Item 4 – Advisory Business

CS Planning Corp (“CSP”) is an SEC registered investment advisory firm. We provide fee-only investment supervisory, portfolio management, investment consulting and financial planning services. The firm has been in business since 2009. CSP is owned by Christopher K. Hicks, President and Chief Compliance Officer.

Our investment advisory services are coordinated through our network of Advisory Affiliates. Advisory Affiliates may have their own legal business entities whose trade names and logos are used for marketing purposes and may appear on marketing materials or client statements. The Client should understand that the businesses are legal entities of the Advisory Affiliate and not of our firm, CSP, and the advisory services of the Advisory Affiliate are provided through our firm, CSP. CSP has the arrangement described above with Redstone Capital Management, LLC, an Arizona limited liability company, managed by Kevin Canterbury. Mr. Canterbury is an Investment Advisor Representative associated with CSP, offers investment advisory services exclusively through CSP, and only utilizes Redstone Capital Management for marketing purposes. Redstone Capital Management is not a registered investment advisor and is not affiliated with CSP.

Our investment approach utilizes broadly diversified portfolios and a systematic strategy to manage client portfolios. Through our Advisory Affiliates, we help Clients coordinate and prioritize their financial lives with all aspects of their life goals. Integrating investments across all individual retirement accounts, taxable accounts, and employee retirement accounts is crucial to the process. Client input and involvement are critical parts of the financial planning process and implementation of investment decisions. After Client assets are invested, we continuously monitor their investments and provide advice related to ongoing financial and investment needs.

Advice and services are tailored to the stated objectives of the Client(s). Our Advisory Affiliates discuss with the Client critically important information such as the Client’s risk tolerance, time horizon, and projected future needs, to formulate an investment strategy. This information and strategy guides us in objectively and suitably managing the Client’s account. Our Advisory Affiliates meet with Clients as needed to review portfolio performance, discuss current issues, and re-assess goals and plans.

Our investment recommendations include mutual funds and other investments such as exchange-traded funds, and exchange-listed equity securities, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, U.S. government securities, non-traded securities and money market funds when suitable and appropriate for a Client’s particular situation. If Clients hold other types of investments, we will advise them on those investments also. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. We consider such restrictions when formulating the Client’s investment strategy. See Item 8 for a description of our investment strategy.

We do not manage Wrap Fee programs.

CS Planning manages $1,960,873,373 of Client assets on a discretionary basis and $0 of Client assets on a non-discretionary basis. These amounts were calculated as of December 31, 2025.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

We provide investment supervisory services to Clients pursuant to an Investment Management Agreement and primarily under the following fee schedules below:

ACTIVELY MANAGED ACCOUNTS

Balanced Accounts:

$0 to $500,000	1.25%
$500,001 to $1,000,000	1.10%
$1,000,001 to $3,000,000	0.85%
$3,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.75%
$5,000,001 and Up	0.60%

Actively Managed Fixed Income Only Accounts:

$0 to $500,000	0.85%
$500,001 to $3,000,000	0.70%
$3,000,001 to $6,000,000	0.60%
$6,000,001 to $10,000,000	0.50%
Greater than $10,000,000	0.40%

Concentrated Aggressive Growth Strategy

$0 to $3,000,000	1.50%
$3,000,001 to $10,000,000	1.25%

Fee-Based Variable Annuity:

Greater than $50,000	0.70%
-----------------------	-------

Short-Term Cash Management Accounts:

$0 to $500,000	0.75%
Greater than $500,000	0.60%

In addition to the fees set-forth above, Clients may be charged an additional investment manager fee of 0.50%. All fees are calculated based upon the fee schedule provided at the opening of the initial account.

Client's asset management accounts are billed monthly in advance. Fees are paid to us directly from the client's account by the custodian upon our submission of an invoice. Payment of fees may result in the liquidation of Client's securities if there is insufficient cash in the account. The fee is based on the market value of the Client's account on the last trading day of the prior month.

Market value includes all account values and transaction information as of the end of each month (not adjusted by any margin debit). To determine value, securities and other instruments traded on a market for which actual transaction prices are publicly reported are generally valued at the last reported sale price on the principal market in which they are traded. Mutual Funds are only valued once per day after the close of the market. Whenever valuation information for specific, illiquid, foreign, private or other investments is not available through the custodian, our approach will be to value at zero. We do this in order to not overvalue a position which could potentially over inflate billing calculations. Alternatively, we may also seek to obtain and document price information from at least one independent source, whether it be a broker-dealer, bank, pricing service or other source.

Redstone Capital Management
Part 2A of Form ADV – Brochure

The monthly fee will be equal to the agreed upon annual rate, multiplied by the market value of the account for that month. This number is then divided by twelve.

Fees for a partial month at the commencement or termination of an agreement will be prorated based on the number of days the account was open during the month. Monthly fee adjustments for additional assets received into an account during a month or for partial withdrawals may also be provided as negotiated. We may modify the terms of the fee agreement by giving Clients 30 days written notice in advance.

Under certain circumstances, Clients may pay commissions and trading fees on trades initiated by us, in addition to other agreed upon fees. Clients may also be charged up to $35.00 per trade as an administrative fee for Client directed trades. Notwithstanding the foregoing, fees follow the prevailing fee schedule.

Clients may be required to pay other miscellaneous charges or fees directly to the custodian (e.g. wire fees) as stated in the custodial agreements. Additionally, mutual funds and/or exchange traded funds have additional internal expenses which generally include a fund management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. In addition, some funds charge a redemption fee on shares bought and sold within a short period. Funds describe their expenses in their prospectuses, summary prospectuses, or product descriptions. Clients are advised that these fees are separate and additional expenses incurred by the Client. See Item 12 for additional information on Brokerage Practices.

Our fees include the time necessary to work with Client's attorney, accountant or other third party professionals in reaching agreement on financial planning or investment solutions, as well as assisting those advisors in implementation of all appropriate documents. However, we are not responsible for attorney, accountant or other third party professional fees charged to Client as a result of these activities.

In some instances, we may recommend that all or a portion of Client assets be managed by an unrelated Third Party Asset Manager ("TPAM"), investment manager or sub-advisor. These arrangements are more fully disclosed in Item 10, below.

Generally, Clients pay all Wealth Management Retainer fees monthly in advance. All Wealth Management Agreements may be terminated at any time by providing us with 30 days written notice. If an account is terminated during a month after fees have been deducted, the client will be refunded a prorated portion based on the number of days the account was open during the month. Upon termination, any fees that have been earned by us but not yet paid will be immediately due and payable. Clients are also responsible for all applicable charges including, but not limited to, account administrative fees, account closure fees and all trading costs due to the termination, including any fees the mutual funds may assess. Upon request, we will provide a good-faith estimate of these fees.

Certain Advisory Affiliates of CSP are also independently licensed to sell insurance products through various carriers. CSP is a fee only registered investment adviser and does not act as an insurance brokerage or agency and is not otherwise affiliated with any insurance brokerages or agencies. However, a conflict of interest arises when insurance related business is transacted with advisory Clients, because certain individual Advisory Affiliates of CSP are independently licensed to sell insurance products through various carriers. In their capacity as an Insurance Agent, they may receive commissions or other fees from products sold to Clients. As such, Clients are advised that they are under no obligation to use any individual associated with CSP for insurance products or services, and may use any insurance firm or agent they choose.

Clients are also advised that the Wealth Management Retainer fees paid to CSP are separate and distinct from the commissions earned by any individual in connection with the sale of insurance or other securities products and CSP does not receive any compensation for products sold by these Advisory Affiliates.

Because CSP is not involved in the sale of insurance products, we do not know the actual dollar amount of any commission payment to an Insurance Agent. Also, because CSP is neither a broker dealer nor an insurance agency, we do not have the ability to rebate commissions received for the sale of a product and cannot discount the price of a product to make up for any commission that may be received from its sale.

Rollover Recommendations

As part of our investment advisory services to you, we may recommend that you roll assets from your employer's retirement plan, such as a 401(k), 457, or ERISA 403(b) account (collectively, a "Plan Account"), to an individual retirement account, such as a SIMPLE IRA, SEP IRA, Traditional IRA, or Roth IRA (collectively, an "IRA Account") that we will manage on your behalf. We may also recommend rollovers from IRA Accounts to Plan Accounts, from Plan Accounts to Plan Accounts, and from IRA Accounts to IRA Accounts. When we provide any of the foregoing rollover recommendations we are acting as fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA") and/or the Internal Revenue Code ("IRC"), as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts.

If you elect to roll the assets to an IRA that is subject to our management, we will charge you an asset-based fee as set forth in the advisory agreement you executed with our firm. This creates a conflict of interest because it creates a financial incentive for our firm to recommend the rollover to you (i.e., receipt of additional fee-based compensation). You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to complete the rollover. Moreover, if you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by our firm. Due to the foregoing conflict of interest, when we make rollover recommendations, we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interests and not put our interests ahead of yours.

Redstone Capital Management
Part 2A of Form ADV – Brochure

Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interests;
- charge no more than a reasonable fee for our services; and
- give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

Many employers permit former employees to keep their retirement assets in their company plan. Also, current employees can sometimes move assets out of their company plan before they retire or change jobs. In determining whether to complete the rollover to an IRA, and to the extent the following options are available, you should consider the costs and benefits of a rollover.

Note that an employee will typically have four options in this situation:

1. leaving the funds in your employer's (former employer's) plan;
2. moving the funds to a new employer's retirement plan;
3. cashing out and taking a taxable distribution from the plan; or
4. rolling the funds into an IRA rollover account.

Each of these options has positives and negatives. Because of that, along with the importance of understanding the differences between these types of accounts, we will provide you with a written explanation of the advantages and disadvantages of both account types and the basis for our belief that the rollover transaction we recommend is in your best interests.

As an alternative to providing you with a rollover recommendation, we may instead take an entirely educational approach in accordance with the U.S. Department of Labor's Interpretive Bulletin 96-1. Under this approach, our role will be limited only to providing you with general educational materials regarding the pros and cons of rollover transactions. We will make no recommendation to you regarding the prospective rollover of your assets and you are advised to speak with your trusted tax and legal advisors with respect to rollover decisions. As part of this educational approach, we may provide you with materials discussing some or all of the following topics: the general pros and cons of rollover transactions; the benefits of retirement plan participation; the impact of pre-retirement withdrawals on retirement income; the investment options available inside your Plan Account; and high level discussion of general investment concepts (e.g., risk versus return, the benefits of diversification and asset allocation, historical returns of certain asset classes, etc.). We may also provide you with questionnaires and/or interactive investment materials that may provide a means for you to independently determine your future retirement income needs and to assess the impact of different asset allocations on your retirement income. You will make the final rollover decision.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees for our services or engage in side-by-side management.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We provide investment advice to high net worth individuals, individuals, businesses, pension and profit sharing plans, foundations, trusts, estates, and charitable organizations. Because each Client is unique, they must be willing to be involved in the planning and ongoing processes. Such involvement does not have to be time consuming, however we want our Clients to remain informed about their overall financial situation.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We create broadly diversified portfolios in the worldwide fixed-income and equity markets, combined with periodic rebalancing. Our Advisory Affiliates create an investment strategy with each Client, outlining the investment philosophy, management procedures, and long-term goals for the investor. Portfolio design is tailored to each Client's risk tolerance and preferences.

Types of Investments

As part of our core investment approach, we offer advice on investments including mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, equity securities, debt securities, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, U.S. government securities, non-traded securities, and money market funds when suitable and appropriate. In limited circumstances, and only when suitable and appropriate, we may offer advice on digital assets and cryptocurrency. Each type of security has its own unique set of risks associated with it, and it would not be possible to disclose all of the specific risks of every type of investment in this brochure. In those limited situations where it is suitable and appropriate to meet a particular Client's needs, we may also utilize margin to manage an account. Margin occurs when a client pays for part of a purchase and borrows the rest from the brokerage firm that custodies the account. If our Clients have any questions regarding the risks associated with a particular investment, they are encouraged to contact us.

Mutual funds are professionally managed collective investment companies that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual or exchange traded funds, other securities or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. Other fund risks include foreign securities and currency risk, emerging markets risk, small-cap, mid-cap and large-cap risk, trading risk, and turnover risk that can increase fund expenses and may decrease fund performance. Brokerage and transactions costs incurred by the fund will reduce returns.

ETFs are investment funds traded on stock exchanges, much like stocks or equities. An ETF holds assets such as stocks, commodities, or bonds and trades at approximately the same price as the net asset value of its underlying assets over the course of the trading day. Most ETFs track an index, such as the S&P 500. However, some ETFs are fully transparent actively managed funds. Market risk is, perhaps, the most significant risk associated with ETFs. This risk is defined by the day to day fluctuations associated with any exchange traded security, where fluctuations occur in part based on the perception of investors.

Individual equity securities (also known simply as “equities” or “stock”) are assessed for risk in numerous ways. Price fluctuations and market risk are the most significant risk concerns. As such, the value of your investment can increase or decrease over time. Furthermore, you should understand that stock prices can be affected by many factors including, but not limited to, the overall health of the economy, the health of the market sector or industry of the issuing company, and national and political events. When investing in stock, it is important to focus on the average returns achieved over a given period of time, across a well-diversified portfolio.

Individual debt securities (or “bonds”) are typically safer investments than equity securities, but their risk can also vary widely based on: the financial health of the issuer; the risk that the issuer might default; when the bond is set to mature; and, whether or not the bond can be “called” prior to maturity. When a bond is called, it may not be possible to replace it with a bond of equal character paying the same rate of return.

Non-traded Securities can include non-exchanged traded REIT’s, Private Equity, Private Debt, BDC’s, and Preferred Securities. These types of securities have unique and complex risk profiles which are differentiated from exchange-traded securities. These investments are characterized by limited liquidity, high internal fees, and lack of transparency.

Primarily we invest with a focus on Long Term Purchases, where securities are purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year. Sometimes we will employ a Short Term Purchase strategy where securities are purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities’ short term price fluctuations. Short-term trading (in general, selling securities within 30 days of purchasing the same securities) is not a fundamental part of our overall investment strategy.

In limited situations we may utilize put and call option strategies or 1X inverse ETF’s in order to mitigate market risk when suitable and appropriate for an individual client’s portfolio.

Digital Asset Risk: From time-to-time, and only where suitable for clients, we may recommend investments in certain digital currencies, including, without limitation, Bitcoin, Ethereum, Litecoin, and others (collectively, “Cryptocurrency”). Where exposure to this asset class is appropriate, we will typically, if not exclusively, obtain such exposure through purchases and sales of ETFs and other publicly traded securities available through the Fidelity Digital Assets platform.

Investment in Cryptocurrency involves an extremely high degree of risk and is more speculative than an investment in publicly-traded securities like stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and ETFs. Unlike the market valuations of publicly-traded stocks and bonds which can be objectively valued on the basis of the issuer's assets, income, debts, liabilities, operations, history of credit-worthiness and other factors, prices of Cryptocurrency are based entirely on the market's perception of value and are subject to rapid changes in market sentiment. Accordingly, Cryptocurrency is subject to an extremely high level of price volatility, including "flash crashes," and may lose significant value in a matter of minutes, hours, or days. It is not uncommon for the value of Cryptocurrency to move as much as twenty percent (20%) or more in a single day. The ownership of particular Cryptocurrency is opaque and therefore certain Cryptocurrency may be owned and controlled by relatively small number of individuals, increasing the potential for fraud and market-manipulation such as pump-and-dump schemes and other fraudulent criminal schemes.

Evaluation and understanding of the features, functions, and other properties of Cryptocurrency requires a high level of technical knowledge and sophistication. The market for Cryptocurrency is in its infancy, is rapidly evolving, and its future is unknown. Governments and central banks do not create, sponsor, support, back, insure, or control Cryptocurrencies and there is no guarantee of their future viability as a store of value or a means of exchange. Federal, state, or foreign governments may restrict the use and exchange of cryptocurrency, and regulation in the United States is still developing. Cryptocurrency is not legal tender in most jurisdictions, including the United States. No laws require individuals or businesses to accept Cryptocurrency as a form of payment and Cryptocurrency does not have any intrinsic value. Its value derives entirely from market forces of supply and demand.

Cryptocurrency exchanges and other trading venues on which Cryptocurrencies trade are relatively new and, in most cases, largely unregulated and may therefore be more exposed to fraud and failure than established, regulated exchanges for securities, derivatives, and other currencies. Cryptocurrency exchanges may stop operating or permanently shut down due to fraud, technical glitches, hackers, or malware. Due to relatively recent launches, most Cryptocurrencies have a limited trading history, making it difficult for investors to evaluate investments. Generally, Cryptocurrency transactions are irreversible, such that an improper transfer can only be reversed by the receiver of the cryptocurrency agreeing to return the cryptocurrency to the sender.

Accordingly, investment in Cryptocurrency is not appropriate for all investors and you should only invest "risk capital" in such asset class (e.g., funds, the complete and total loss of which, would have insubstantial effect on your overall financial circumstances and financial goals).

Methods of Analysis

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis when formulating investment advice:

Top-Down Global Macro-Economic Analysis involves a big-picture analysis of the prevailing economic, demographic and social trends followed by a more focused analysis at the country level, then the industry level and ultimately the specific security level.

Mutual Fund/Exchange Traded Fund Analysis involves qualitative analysis looking at factors such as the background and experience of the fund manager and/or the fund company (style, consistency, risk-adjusted performance, management expenses, average daily trading volume, etc.).

Fundamental analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages. This type of analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Investment Risk of Loss

As indicated in the descriptions above, investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate Clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Except as may otherwise be provided by law, we are not liable to Clients for:

- Any loss that a Client may suffer by reason of any investment decision made or other action taken or omitted in good faith by us with that degree of care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances that a prudent person acting in a fiduciary capacity would use;
- Any loss arising from our adherence to a Client's instructions, or the disregard of our recommendations made to a Client; or
- Any act or failure to act by a custodian or other third party to a Client's account.

It is the responsibility of the Client to give us complete information and to notify us of any changes in financial circumstances or goals.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of or the integrity of the firm's management. CS Planning Corp. has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Affiliated Entities:

CSP is affiliated through common ownership and control with Palouse Capital Management, Inc. ("PCM"). PCM and CSP are under common control of Christopher K. Hicks who is considered a control person of each firm because he holds more than 25% ownership interest in each firm.

PCM is an investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. PCM offers investment advisory services through numerous Advisory Affiliates to the firm.

Outside Business Activities of Advisory Affiliates:

As disclosed in Item 5, above, Advisory Affiliates of CSP may also be independently licensed as insurance agents with other agencies. Affiliates may recommend the purchase and sale of certain insurance products to Clients. As a fiduciary, the Affiliate must act primarily for the benefit of CSP Clients and will only transact insurance related business with Clients when the products are fully disclosed, suitable, and appropriate to fit their needs, and in order to simplify the implementation of various wealth management strategies.

Promotor Relationships

We may enter into promotor agreements with individuals or other registered investment advisors. Promotor arrangements and requirements are more fully described in Item 14 (“Client Referrals and Other Compensation”), below. We do not believe this arrangement creates any conflicts of interest with any of our Clients.

Other Investment Managers:

On occasion, we may recommend and engage affiliated and unaffiliated Third Party Asset Managers (TPAM), investment managers, or sub-advisors who provide customized investment portfolio management services. These services may include the construction of investment portfolios, execution of securities purchase and sale transactions, and portfolio administration, including tracking of and reporting on portfolio performance and investment results.

We are authorized by our Clients to share non-public, personal information with TPAMs, investment managers, or sub-advisors for the purpose of managing their portfolios. However we require any TPAM or sub-advisor to execute a confidentiality agreement and not share non-public personal information with any unauthorized person or entity.

Clients may be required to enter into a separate advisory agreement with any TPAM, investment manager or sub-advisor. The use of TPAMs, investment managers, or sub-advisors may cause Clients to incur additional fees. If applicable, any additional fees will be fully disclosed to Clients in an Investment Management Agreement, or a separate agreement with the TPAM or sub-advisor.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transaction & Personal Trading

We have a Code of Ethics which all employees are required to follow. The Code of Ethics outlines our high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to Clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of Client information, a prohibition on insider trading, personal securities trading procedures, improper use of Firm property, and diversion of investment and business opportunities, among other things. A copy of the code of ethics is available free of charge to any Client or prospective Client upon request by contacting us at (480) 685-2931.

We or individuals associated with our firm may buy and sell some of the same securities for their own account that we buy and sell for Clients. When appropriate we will purchase or sell securities for Clients before purchasing the same for our account or allowing representatives to purchase or sell the same for their own account. However, we do allow the accounts of employees to be included in block trading alongside the accounts of Clients. In some cases we or our representatives may buy or sell securities for our own account for reasons not related to the strategies adopted for our Clients. Our employees are required to follow the Code of Ethics when making trades for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions will not interfere with decisions made in the best interest of advisory Clients while at the same time, allowing employees to invest their own accounts.

In the event a material conflict of interest not already discussed in this document should arise, we will disclose to our advisory Clients any material conflict of interest relating to us, our representatives, or any of our employees which could reasonably be expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

As any advisory situation could present a conflict of interest, we have established the following restrictions to ensure our fiduciary responsibilities:

- A director, officer, associated person, or employee of CSP and Redstone Capital Management shall not buy or sell securities for his personal portfolio where his decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, by reason of his employment unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No person associated with CSP and Redstone Capital Management shall prefer his or her own interest to that of the advisory Client.
- We maintain a list of all securities holdings for the firm and for anyone associated with its advisory practice who has access to advisory recommendations. An appropriate officer reviews these holdings on a regular basis.
- Any individual not in observance of the above may be subject to discipline up to and including termination.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Our Clients' assets are held by independent third-party qualified custodians. We do recommend certain custodians to Clients, however, Clients are not obligated to use any particular custodian recommended by us. We reserve the right to decline acceptance of any Client account for which the Client directs the use of a particular custodian if we believe that this choice would hinder either our fiduciary duty to the Client or our ability to service the account.

In recommending custodians, we will comply with its fiduciary duty to seek best execution and with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. We will take into account such relevant factors as:

- Price;
- The custodian's facilities, reliability and financial responsibility;
- The ability of the custodian to effect transactions, particularly with regard to such aspects as timing, order size and execution of order;

Redstone Capital Management
Part 2A of Form ADV – Brochure

- The research and related brokerage services provided by such custodian to us, notwithstanding that the account may not be the direct or exclusive beneficiary of such services; and
- Any other factors that we consider to be relevant.

We may aggregate trades for Clients. The allocations of a particular security will be determined by us before the trade is placed with the broker. When practical, Client trades in the same security will be bunched in a single order (a “block”) in an effort to obtain best execution at the best security price available. When employing a block trade:

- We will make reasonable efforts to attempt to fill Client orders by day-end.
- If the block order is not filled by day-end, we will allocate shares executed to underlying accounts on a pro rata basis, adjusted as necessary to keep Client transaction costs to a minimum.
- If a block order is filled (full or partial fill) at several prices through multiple trades, an average price and commission will be used for all trades executed;
- All participants receiving securities from the block trade will receive the average price.
- Multiple blocks may be executed within a single day. However, only trades executed within the block on the single day may be combined for purposes of calculating the average price.

It is expected that this trade aggregation and allocation policy will be applied consistently. However, if application of this policy results in unfair or inequitable treatment to some or all of our Clients, we may deviate from this policy.

Finally, it is our policy to minimize the occurrence of trade errors. Should any trade errors which are attributable to CSP occur, we shall take any steps necessary to put the Client in the position it should have been as if the trade error never occurred. In the event we determine that a bona fide trade error has occurred which is attributable to CSP, we will correct the trade error using funds from our error account. Depending on the internal trade error policies and procedures of the particular custodian, our error account may be debited if the correction results in a loss. Likewise, our error account may be credited if the correction results in a gain. This situation creates a conflict of interest as CSP has an incentive to recommend particular custodians over others that may not have a similar policy.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Client accounts are formally reviewed at least annually. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each Client’s stated investment objectives and guidelines.

We have a number of Advisory Affiliates who are assigned as the primary representative to a particular Client’s account. The Advisory Affiliate assigned to a particular Client’s account will be responsible for the periodic reviews to that account. Clients will be provided the Supplemental Brochure (Form ADV Part 2B) of any Advisory Affiliate providing advice related to their account.

More frequent reviews may be triggered by a number of reasons including: a change in Client’s investment objectives; tax considerations; large deposits or withdrawals; large sales or purchases; or changes in the economic climate.

Investment advisory Clients receive standard account statements from the custodian of their accounts generally on a monthly basis, but in any event, no less than quarterly. Advisor Affiliates may also provide Clients with periodic written reports summarizing the account activity and performance. Along with these reports, we discuss the asset allocation of the portfolio compared to the portfolio target allocations.

Financial Planning Clients will typically receive a completed written financial plan unless otherwise agreed at the start of the engagement. Dependent upon the level and scope of Financial Planning services being provided, Advisor Affiliates will meet with clients at least twice per year or more often as a major life event occurs.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As disclosed under Item 12 (above), we (or our Affiliates) may receive “soft dollars” from certain custodians. The conflicts of interest these types of arrangements present and how we deal with these conflicts are described in detail under Item 12, above.

As disclosed under Items 5 and 10 above, representatives of CSP may also be licensed to sell insurance. The conflicts of interest these arrangements present and how we deal with these conflicts are described in detail under Item 5, above.

Promoter Relationships

Certain Advisory Affiliates of CSP may enter into promoter agreements that pay cash compensation to third-party intermediaries in exchange for their promotion, referral, and endorsement of our advisory services to prospective clients. The cash compensation paid to such promoters may take the form of a retainer, a flat advertising fee, a fee per referral, and/or a percentage of the advisory fees we collect from referred client accounts. These fees may be paid to the promoter on a one-time or recurring basis. Unless otherwise explicitly disclosed in writing to the client, the cash compensation paid to a promoter will be borne entirely by CSP and the Advisory Affiliate. Referred clients do not pay any additional or increased advisory fees as a result of having been referred to our firm by a paid third-party promoter.

We will only engage third-party promoters in accordance with the requirements of the SEC’s “marketing rule” (SEC Rule 206(4)-1), promulgated under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Any promoters engaged for this purpose will disclose to you at or reasonably prior to the time of their referral or endorsement of CSP (i) that they will receive compensation from CSP as a result of their endorsement of our firm; (ii) a description of the material terms of the compensation they will receive; and (iii) a brief statement discussing the conflicts of interest arising out of the compensation arrangement and/or the relationship between CSP and the third-party promoter. Clients referred to our firm by a third-party promoter are encouraged to inquire with us if they have any questions about the foregoing arrangements.

Item 15 – Custody

We have the ability to debit fees, and we may have the ability to disburse or transfer certain client funds pursuant to Standing Letters of Authorization executed by Clients. We do not otherwise have custody of the assets in the account.

We shall have no liability to a Client for any loss or other harm to any property in the account, including any harm to any property in the account resulting from the insolvency of the custodian or any acts of the agents or employees of the custodian and whether or not the full amount or such loss is covered by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”) or any other insurance which may be carried by the custodian. The Client understands that SIPC provides only limited protection for the loss of property held by a custodian.

Clients receive standard account statements from the custodian of their accounts generally on a monthly basis, but in any event, no less than quarterly. Our Advisory Affiliate’s may also provide Clients with periodic written reports summarizing the account activity and performance. We urge all Clients to carefully review statements from the custodian and compare these to any reports that we may provide to you. Our reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Generally, Clients grant us and our Advisory Affiliates ongoing and continuous discretionary authority to execute investment recommendations in accordance with an agreed upon investment strategy or plan without the Client’s prior approval of each specific transaction. Under discretionary authority, Client allows us to purchase and sell securities and instruments in their account(s), arrange for delivery and payment in connection with the foregoing, select and retain sub-advisors, and act on behalf of the Client in matters necessary or incidental to the handling of the account, including monitoring certain assets. The only restrictions on this discretionary authority are those set by the Client on a case by case basis.

In limited circumstances, an Advisory Affiliate will not have discretionary authority to determine or make changes to a Client’s stated investment strategy without the Client’s prior approval. However, CSP will still have complete discretion to implement its trading strategies to update the portfolio allocation within that stated investment strategy, without the Client’s prior approval. In this type of situation, CSP will require authorization from the Client before making any changes to a Client’s investment strategy.

CSP will act in accordance with any agreed upon investment strategy, regardless of whether authority is discretionary or non-discretionary. Further, we make it a practice to question Clients to determine if there are any limitations to our authority on such matters.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

We do not have authority to vote and therefore do not vote Client securities. Additionally, we do not provide advice to Clients on how the Client should vote. Clients will receive proxies and other solicitations directly from the custodian or transfer agent. If any proxy materials are received on behalf of a Client, they will be sent directly to the Client who remains responsible to vote the proxy.

Item 18 – Financial Information

A portion of hourly rate or fixed fee projects are generally required to be paid in advance, however under no circumstances will we retain more than $1,200.00, more than six months in advance from any Client.

We do have discretionary authority over Client funds or securities, but we have no financial commitments that would impair our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to Clients.

Neither CSP, nor any of the principals, nor Kevin Canterbury, have been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time in the past. We have no financial conditions that would impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to our Clients.
